ABOUT THE AUTHOR

SARNDR URWIN is New Zealand's most respected natural animal health practitioner.

She spent her childhood on an isolated sheep and cattle station, developing a deep physical and spiritual interest in the land, plants and animals. At that time some of the old wise ways were still part of farming and she was to remember them well.

She became a pioneer in holistic animal practices, using her training in nursing, vet nursing, NLP, homeopathy, herbal medicine, the flower essences, massage and an adult education qualification to develop programmes for animal health and welfare.

Sarndra has been in practice for over 40 years, founding the New Zealand Holistic Animal Therapists Association, the Holistic Animal Centre, the St Francis College of Natural Animal Health and the free on-line Animal Health magazine.

She is a well-known writer on holistic animal health issues and features on Radio Live national talkback with Keith Stewart.

Sarndra Urwin is now in private practice as a consulting natural animal health practitioner.

*"What is this life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.
No time to stand beneath the boughs
And stare as long as sheep or cows."*
